Error reporting/questions

All types of error reports and question should be made through the website or to email info@angssatra.se

Answers to most common question are available on our website.

Lawnmowing

We want to applaud the three houses Hovstagränd 3, 5 and 7. The lawns look very nice and it seems to be working well. You know who you are, you who keep helping out by cutting the lawns. Huge thanks from us.

Hovstagränd 9, 11 and 13 are still missing in engagement.

If you want to cut the lawn around your house but don't know how the lawnmowers work, don't hesitate to ask us and we will have a walkthrough with you. We have also bought another smaller lawnmower for those of you who find the other two too heavy.

Fire Protection and zero tolerance

To keep up with the law and uphold the fire safety level in the buildings it is strictly forbidden to store or put things in the stairwells and entrance.

To keep this in line we enforce a zero tolerance policy against storing items in the stairwells. It has a few times come up in discussion with members who have broken this rule regarding what zero tolerance means.

If you have put any items in the stair well and these have been removed by a board member and a notification has been put up where the item was you have to accept that you broke our rules and take the consequence of it. The Fire safety work is done to protect everyone and is not open for debate.

Guerilla farming

We have noticed it's becoming more and more common with members taking their own initiative and starting pallet collar farming and planting things on Brf owned land outside their patios. It is not allowed to grow anything on Brf property without the explicit sanctions from the board and the newly instated gardening group. We have not chased anyone for this, but everyone who has put up pallet collars outside their patios will have to remove them at some point. The same thing is for furniture and other items being stored on Brf property without permission. If you have for example a grill, it should be stored on your patio, not on the brf property.

Food Waste 2023

From next year it will become mandatory to do food waste separation. This means we will be removing some of the household waste bins and replacing them with food waste bins. There will also be food waste bags to collect in the garbage rooms. Information from SVOA will be sent out to all households. We are trying to start this as soon as possible instead of waiting until next year.

Tile cleaning

We have put some effort in cleaning up the tiles at the entrances and removed a lot of weed. We have re-tiled some areas and put new jointing sand, there is a clear improvement, even though some weeds have reemerged in some places.
